CHINESE MILITARY AID URGED

CLARK SPEAKS TO DANIEL—U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark (right) speaks to Texas Attorney General Price Daniel during Daniel's appearance before a congressional committee in Washington. Daniel said Texas has a special claim to ownership of submerged land within and along its borders. Later Clark, also a Texan, said the Federal Government plans to file suit against Texas and Louisiana "and possibly two or three other Gulf states" for title to tidelands. (AP Wirephoto.)

JESTER BACK FROM CAPITAL, REVEALS TIDELANDS HOPES

By PAUL MOORE
Daily Sun Staff.

Gov. Beaumont H. Jester revealed here Thursday afternoon that of the 48 governors of the nation are backing the stand he has taken on the tidelands question now before the national government in Washington.

The governor was here en route back to Austin from Washington. He arrived in Dallas Wednesday night and came to his home here and visited his mother, Mrs. George T. Jester, Thursday. He left for Austin Thursday afternoon.

By The Associated Press.

Rebeling Dixie Democrats today received a setback in their drive to keep President Truman's name off Southern ballots. But from the North came fresh support for a change in party standard bearers.

Virginia legislators yesterday threw out a bill to bar Mr. Truman's name from the ballot. But they kept another weapon to use against him.

At the same time, three New England Democrats—including Boston's long-time mayor, James M. Curley; Gen. Douglas MacArthur, as their party's presidential candidate.

Curley, who last Thanksgiving was granted a presidential pardon after serving five months of a 18 months mail fraud sentence, declared the nation is demanding that Mr. Truman stay out of the race.

He joined former Governors Joseph E. Ely of Massachusetts and Francis P. Murphy of New Hampshire in proposing the supreme Allied commander of Japan as the Democratic nominee.

Ely supported the late Alfred E. Smith in his break with President Franklin D. Roosevelt and backed James A. Farley against Roosevelt at the 1940 Democratic convention.

Murphy was a Republican governor but later was Democratic national committeeman from New Hampshire.

Curley was asked whether he plans to start a move at the Philadelphia convention to substitute MacArthur for Truman.

"I don't think it will be necessary," he replied to a reporter. "The country is doing it now."

MacArthur has been mentioned most frequently as a possible GOE nominee.

Truman Is Winding Up Calm Vacation

KEY WEST, Fla., March 4—(P)—President Truman took his last dip into calm vacation waters today before plunging into international and domestic political problems awaiting him at Washington.

"I don't think it will be necessary," he replied to a reporter. "The country is doing it now."

SLEET, SNOW, RAIN BUFFET PANHANDLE; ALL TEXAS CLOUDY

SOME HIGHWAYS IN NORTH PLAINS CLOSED BY SNOW CONDITIONS

By The Associated Press. Sleet, light freezing rain and snow buffeted the Panhandle today as cloudy weather returned to all of the state except the El Paso area.

Blowing snow, although not heavy or of blizzard proportions, closed some roads in the North Plains and West of Amarillo on U. S. Highway 66. Driving was dangerous on other roads in the Panhandle.

The freezing rain extended to the South Plains, and drizzling rain fell as far as the South Gulf coastal areas.

Temperature fell below freezing hours in the Panhandle. Amarillo had a low of 20 degrees this morning. Pampa had an overnight low of 22. Minimums elsewhere ranged as high as 63 degrees at Brownsville in the far south.

Snow Drifts.

Carriers for the Amarillo News turned back at Borger during the night because of snow drifts to the North. A carrier to Tucumcari, N. M., turned back at Adrian. A low temperature of 10 degrees was registered last night at Clayton, N. M., just west of the Panhandle.

Clouds continued to plague sections of Northeast Texas.

Cloudy conditions were forecast to continue through much of the state tomorrow. Colder weather was promised the north port of East Texas tonight, and a warmup this afternoon for the Panhandle and South Plains.

CHICAGO, March 4—(P)—The farmer sending produce to market today finds he's getting a lower income from several important items than he did a year ago.

How the farmer's income took a nosing in the recent slash of market values was revealed in a comparison of prices yesterday with March 3, 1947. Such important items as wheat, hogs and cotton were lower.

The hog top at Chicago a year ago was $29.50 a hundred pounds. Yesterday the best price was $24.25. This decline has developed despite a smaller number of hogs.

Cattle Better.

Farmers are doing a little better with cattle. As an example, good size hog yearlings which brought $21.00 to $24.00 at South St. Paul, Minn., a year ago are now bringing $25.50 to $26.30.

But sheep prices are under a year ago. Good and choice native and fed woolen Western lambs were worth 24.00 to $24.40 at East St. Louis a year ago. Yesterday they were 22.00.

These prices are typical. The same variations with 1947 apply in all livestock markets.

In the big Kansas City cash market, wheat which sold no lower than $2.64 a bushel on March 3, 1947, was down to as low as $2.44—14 yesterday.

Highway 287 In Freestone County Closed By Flood

Highway 287 in Freestone county was closed to traffic Thursday morning because of floodwaters of the Trinity river lapping over the pavement, a highway maintenance department spokesman reported.

Traffic is being re-routed via Athens between Corsicana and Palestine.

The Trinity, swollen from the North Texas precipitation last week, lacked 18 inches Wednesday morning being over the pavement west of the main bridge on the river and at 5:30 p. m. lacked only about 10 or 11 inches. The floodwaters on the north side of the dump were several inches higher than on the downstream side Wednesday afternoon as openings and bridges were overtaxed in allowing the passage of the water.

The search for the body of Elvie Sims, 26, farm laborer, was abandoned at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday afternoon until the water subsided. Sheriff Castles stated on his return to Corsicana early in the afternoon following a five-hour search. Watchers are on duty along the area this afternoon should the body appear.

The sheriff praised the work of Earl Presley and Jimmy Andrews who with the sheriff and Deputy Myrick manned the boat. The body sank in water about 25 feet deep.

The swollen river is also holding back the Richland creek water load. While the main Richland creek stream in the upper section of Navarro county has subsided, some of its lower tributaries, including Chambers creek that joins Richland in the southern section of Navarro county, have emptied huge amounts of water that have sent the big creek on a rampage and is wider than during the average overflow season.

The waters of Chambers are harnessed with levees and when the combined stream reaches the unprotected areas in southern Navarro county, it becomes more than a mile wide in places, particularly if the river is at floodstage and does not absorb the excess load. This is the fate of the lowlands to be inundated.

Pinhook and other tributaries of Richland were at high levels late Wednesday night, held back some by the Chambers creek load.

Searchers Wade Out.

The sheriff said it was necessary to wade a half mile in knee-deep water before arriving at the slough where Sims disappeared yesterday afternoon. Sims disappeared upstream from the Rakestraw crossing on Richland creek.

A wagon and mules was used to haul the boat from where the owners were forced to stop to the lowlands.

No trace of the body was found. The sheriff said the high waters of Trinity river, several miles downstream, was holding back the waters of Richland and its tributaries until after the crest of the river flood is passed. He said some of CHICAGO, March 4—(P)—Cold winds blow the mercury to below seasonal levels over a wide section of the country today.

Temperatures were below normal in the central and northern parts of the country from the Appalachians to the Rockies. They dipped to below zero near the Canadian border from the Rockies to the Great Lakes and were near zero in parts of New England.

The extensive blanket of snow remained unbroken from the northern and central Rockies eastward across the Great Lakes to New England. Today light snow fell in some areas in the central Rocky mountain region, Indiana and Ohio and on the South Atlantic coast. Rain was reported over parts of the South Atlantic coast.

North Dakota was the coldest point on the early morning weather map. Grand Forks reported a low of -14; Fargo—10 and Pembina -9.

Highs on yesterday's map included 63 at Jacksonville, Fla., 80 at Miami and 72 at Brownsville, Tex.

Condon Asks To Be Heard; Files' Release Doubtful

By EDWARD U. CONDON
CHICAGO, March 4—(P)—

Dr. Edward U. Condon, under fire from the house un-American activities committee, asked today for a congressional investigation to determine if he does not consider himself bound by it.

Condon sails tomorrow for the United States. He had lunch today with the British Royal family at Buckingham Palace, and then issued a statement, saying:

"At the present moment it is no longer necessary to insist on the circumstances and causes of certain political events."

"The motives of the profound political changes imposed on the small states of Eastern Europe are already too well known."

The Communist coup in Czechoslovakia and Soviet pressure on Finland provides overtones for the coming session of delegates from Britain, France and the Benelux nations—Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Corn Planting Is Delayed By Rain

Although the heavy rain Monday delayed corn planting from days to two weeks, County Agricultural Agent W. H. Walker reported that the water was beneficial to stock farmers.

"They'll have plenty of stock water now," he said, "and it was brought in by the rain."

Snow and ice and wet conditions which have prevented the farmers from entering the field have not provided an abundance of stock water, Walker said.

He said the issue is larger than appears on the surface. He said there is difficulty in getting able scientists to work for the government.

He said that "the whole scientific life of the nation is involved."

Aldeas said Harriman, just back from a vacation, is going into all phases of the situation raised by Walker.

Fifteen Years Ago Today, Franklin D. Roosevelt Sworn In; Broke Traditions

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
WASHINGTON, March 4—(P)—

Fifteen years ago today tradition smashing Franklin D. Roosevelt started his presidential career by smashing tradition.

When Chief Justice Hughes read the presidential oath of office, Mr. Roosevelt did not follow with the usual phrase-by phrase repetition of the oath. He waited until Mr. Hughes had finished and then repeated the entire 35-word pledge in one unbroken statement.

Few presidents-elect have learned the full text of the oath. Mr. Roosevelt was all set with it, the words rolling out in the resonant tones which marked his public utterances.

Then, in an effort to bolster the spirit of a nation with a bad case of the hard-times jitters, he launched into a confidence-studded inaugural speech.

"So, first of all," he said, "let me assert my firm belief that only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

ROMANIA'S MIHAI SAYS ABDICATION FORCED, HE'S KING

By EDWARD U. CONDON
CHICAGO, March 4—(P)—

Former King Mihai of Romania said today his abdication was forced upon him and he does not consider himself bound by it.

Mihai sails tomorrow for the United States. He had lunch today with the British Royal family at Buckingham Palace, and then issued a statement, saying:

"At the present moment it is no longer necessary to insist on the circumstances and causes of certain political events."

Condon made his request in a letter to Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), chairman of the Senate atomic energy committee.

Members of the Senate committee told reporters of Condon's over parts of the South Atlantic coast.

Condon is head of the Federal Bureau of Standards.

Condon told Hickenlooper: "I would hope that an investigation by your committee would result in restoring conditions in which men of intelligence would be willing to work for their government and will not be constantly harassed and harried by irresponsible attacks on their character."

He said the issue is larger than appears on the surface. He said there is difficulty in getting able scientists to work for the government.

He said that "the whole scientific life of the nation is involved."

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

District Supervisors Navarro-Hill Soil Conservation District: Morris Crawford, chairman; W. C. Pearce, vice-chairman; Thad Jones, secretary; E. Creekmore and W. Lewis David members.

Guy Gibson is well pleased with the progress of his White Dutch clover that was seeded last fall.

The 200 acres of bottom land drilled to White Dutch clover on the Gibson farm in the late fall of 1947 are furnishing much needed grazing for livestock at this time.

Gibson is particularly interested in developing the White Dutch clover as it furnishes early grazing, grows well into the summer months and does not bloat cattle.

"Collective outlets" is the term now being used to refer to areas on farms in the Navarro-Hill soil conservation district where terrace run-off water will collect.

Interest in the application of terraces constructed on the farm of Mrs. W. W. Hemphill, one mile northeast of Kerens, were recently checked for completion and found to meet district specifications.

The terraces were laid off and constructed so as to have a run-off water empty into a well-sodded pasture. Mrs. Hemphill believes the job of maintaining the terraces is going to be re-estimated.

Meetings were held this at Barry and Hester Grove church at which unusual discussion centered around development of collective outlets.

He owns more than 2,200 acres of land (and a section in Idaho he has never seen.) When the Illinois Central System decided to tap the area, Robbs says he "swung enough weight" to bring the tracks nearer to Robbs. The original contractor failed, he relates, so he put up $10,000 deposit and finished the job himself for $180,000. At first he asked the railroad to build a switch to Robbs, but the officials said no. Robbs built the track and the road later paid him for the job.

At 17 Robbs poled a threshing crew and saved $100 to buy a span of mules and wagon. He used the mules as a down payment on a 120 acre farm, hired a man to care for the farm and toured the countryside selling household goods. With cash from this he bought another farm. He expanded his household gadget sales by selling agent franchises and made more money. Meanwhile, he bought and swapped stock.

He bought one flour and feed mill, kept it four years and sold it at a profit. He bought it back for $2,000 and sold it again this time for $4,000. Thereafter he bought and sold the mill three more times, profiting each time. He finally held onto it and moved it from Eddyville to Robbs.

Robbs buys, sells, or trades virtually anything. He's gained a reputation as a "square shooter."

CHINA'S SORE SPOT

China's westernmost province is a Chinese sore spot. This is Sinkiang, better known under its older names of Eastern or Chinese Turkistan. It is more than twice as large as Texas, with about 4,000,000 inhabitants, 90 per cent of whom are Turkish-speaking and not Chinese at all. While most of the country is desert and part is below ocean level, like our own Death Valley, part is fertile, and is noted for its magnificent fruit.

Sinkiang would be content to remain under China if it received moderately decent government. Asiatics are not exacting in this matter. They have experienced so much bad government that rulers have to be more than usually bad to stir up discontent. This is just what is happening now, and the Turks of Sinkiang are listening to the Russians who whisper how much nicer it is on their side of the boundary line.

Chiang Kai-Shek's government could stop this movement in a moment by removing corrupt officials. But that would disrupt the party machine, and is not to be thought of. Unless these festering sores are cleansed, China's limbs will drop off one by one. Sinkiang will not be the last.

CITIES HAVE TROUBLES

Mayors of the nations' cities, exchanging notes at their national conference in New York City, discovered that most American cities have common major problems today. Inflation and automobiles are the causes of most of them.

While most of the country grumbles because the automobile industry is not producing cars as fast as people want to buy them, city mayors would be quite happy to see the whole industry take a couple of years off. Most cities have too many automobiles contributing to their growing pains. They jam the streets and bring traffic almost to a standstill at the hours when everyone is in a hurry. Drivers harass police and city officials with their demands for more and more parking space.

These woes blamed on automobiles tie in with troubles with bus and trolley systems, which most cities are unable to operate profitably and satisfactorily from the customer's viewpoint. Through these and other griefs, municipal governments are struggling to keep books in the black while wages and other costs go up. These are the common troubles of mayors.

Most cities have in common also a struggle for greater autonomy of government. They chafe under restrictions imposed by their respective states. Legislatures search the constitution and find that powers not specifically vested in the national government are retained by the states, but find nothing which says that a state cannot tell a city what to do. In most states the cities are granted only limited and piecemeal powers to govern themselves, while rural legislators turn a deaf ear to the fuming of mayors and city councils.

GROWING PAINS

Shortage of natural gas has brought hardships to millions of American homes and seriously curtailed factory production. The cause is not diminishing gas deposits, according to gas officials, but inadequate supplies of steel pipe for gas-carrying conduits. In 1945 it was planned to add 21,000 miles of pipeline to the

In Youth Council's Name UrgedMake Progress
In Securing Of Right-Of-Way

Good progress is being made on securing right-of-way easements for the farm-to-market road beginning at Highway 22 west of Frost and extending to Emmett. This was revealed Monday by Commissioner Joe George of Blooming Grove while in Corsicana.

Announcing this Tuesday, Council President Wells Stephens and the committee's report would be formally made to the council at a meeting March 18.

Surveys Made

Action by the committee, headed by Mrs. H. R. Stroble, was taken after interviews throughout last month with experienced youth workers. On-the-spot investigations also were made by committee members Tom Bailey and Louis Wolens, who went to Tyler and Corpus Christi.

Persons interviewed in February were Miss Gladys Short, regional supervisor of the State Board of Vocational Education, Austin; Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, district supervisor for the Child Welfare division of the State Department of Public Welfare; and Aubrey Elliott, executive director of the Austin Community Council.

Officers Inspect
Local Guard Unit

An official from the Inspector General's department, U. S. Fourth Army, San Antonio, inspected the Headquarters Battery of the 133rd Field Artillery Battalion here at the unit's session last Thursday night.

Officer Lt. Col. Stark was accompanied by Major Bob Norki of the Field Artillery School, Fort Sill and now assigned to the Fourth Army for inspection purposes.

Although no formal report was made, the officers indicated the local National Guard group was progressing satisfactorily. They will inspect "C" battery at Kerecns Thursday night.

Battery "A" at Athens was inspected Tuesday night by local guard officers. They were Maj. Allan Bryant, Captain J. C. Gaston, Lt. Hulon Lee and First Sergeant E. R. Garrison.

Engineer Jobs Open

Examinations are to be held by the civil service commission for civil engineers, electrical engineers and mechanical engineers with salaries at $2,644.80 per year. Employment will be with the corps of engineers, department of the army, in the Galveston district. Application forms are available from W. C. Galloway at the local postoffice.

Returned to Home

Leland Conn, two-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Conn, Black Hills, was taken from the Navarro Clinic Monday. The little child had been critically ill for some time, but is believed to be out of danger.

Mrs. Pat Cox and son of Houston are visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. C. O. Currington, France and Northern Africa.

The Birdston residents fear it will be two days or more before the water recedes.

Sims, an employee on the C. S. Garrett farm, was assisting R. E. Grayson, Streetman merchant, drive cattle out of the rising currents of the stream.

Tried to Swim Slough

Grayson related Wednesday night that they had driven all of the cattle to safety and were returning to the higher ground when the accident occurred. Grayson had swam the swift slough while Sims remained on the other bank. Then, according to the version given by Grayson, Sims sought to follow him made only a few feet when he sought to catch low-hanging limbs of a tree, finally grabbing the tree trunk.

After a few minutes, Grayson said Sims told him he was "all right" and ready "to try to cross." Grayson then threw him a rope, but the victim failed to grasp it and within a few feet sank and was never seen again.

War Veteran

The Streetman merchant said that Sims, a veteran of World War II, had waded a part of the swift current before venturing into the stream, but then later said he believed he could make it after the older swimmer had reached safety.

Unable to find a trace of the victim, Grayson then went for help and later the sheriff's office in Corsicana was notified.

Sheriff David Castles, Deputies Raymond Myrick and R. E. Jones, and Jimmy Andrews went to Streetman and then to the area of the tragedy, equipped with grappling hooks, waders, etc., to aid in the search for the body.

Following a conference with Streetman and Birdston residents, including relatives of the missing man, it was decided that the task was too hazardous and dangerous to attempt in the treacherous waters during the night.

Widespread Search

Sheriff Castles and deputies and other Corsicanans left at 6:30 a. m. Thursday for Birdston to join in a widespread search for the body. Motor-driven boats were also pressed into service.

Sims is survived by his wife at Birdston, a small child at Waxahachie; mother, Mrs. Margaret Sims, Dallas; three brothers, four sisters, and other relatives.

The missing man was in the U. S. Army four years, serving under General MacArthur on his return campaign that swept the Japanese out of the Philippines and other points and then to Japan.

Two Causes Of Tuberculosis Are Seen By Doctor

AUSTIN, March 4—(Sp)—"Carelessness and ignorance represent two of the most powerful factors in spreading communicable disease from man to man. No more emphatic example of this fact exists than the continued ravages of tuberculosis. In spite of the knowledge of its causes, and application of corrective methods, tuberculosis is still a very serious problem not only in Texas, but throughout the United States," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"It is true that tuberculosis no longer is first on the list of killing diseases as it was formerly," Dr. Cox said, "but despite having been reduced to fifth place in Texas, it still is responsible for more deaths between the ages of fifteen and forty-five than any other disease. And this fact exists even though the majority of tuberculosis pa-ients could have their condition arrested if it were recognized early and proper treatment applied."

"Treatment of the early recognized case is essential. It is of equal importance, from a public viewpoint, that the spread of this devastating infection be prevented. A more intelligent appreciation of this fact would result in the saving of thousands of lives."

"When a diagnosis of active tuberculosis has been made, examination of all of the other members of the immediate family should follow as a matter of course. Tuberculosis runs in families, not because of any especial susceptibility to the disease, but because it is communicable, being usually transmitted through close and prolonged contact with the active case."

To reduce the number of deaths caused by tuberculosis, Dr. Cox suggests periodic examination of all adults, a check-up by physicians of the known active cases and contacts, regular examinations of high school children, isolation or hospitalization of active tuberculosis cases, and a more intelligent application of hygienic living principles.

Stamp Out Hoof, Mouth Disease At Any Cost-Kleberg

SAN ANTONIO, March 4—(P)—Cattleman Richard M. Kleberg says he believes the foot and mouth disease in Mexico should be stamped out "even if it costs the American people a billion dollars."

He told 200 members of the Lions club here yesterday that the joint U. S.-Mexico campaign was "wholly ineffective."

"The only solution is for the United States government to go into Mexico, buy up all infected cattle, replace them with clean stock, and destroy all diseased beasts—even if this plan should cost the American people a billion dollars."

Kleberg, former congressman, attacked the methods used when American veterinarians first entered Mexico and began slaughtering infected cattle.

"Few realize that this work began in secluded rural areas and often the only beast of burden—an oxen—or the only source of milk supply—a cow—was slain," he said.

The Mexican farmer, he continued, was left with little means of a livelihood. Money paid him meant nothing, and he was miles from any store or food sources, Kleberg said.

Much of the meat from slaughtered animals should be canned and sold in Mexico or abroad, Kleberg asserted, but added that suffering animals heavily infected should be killed, placed in a trench, covered with lime and buried.

Kleberg resides at Corpus Christi.

How to Put Up with Women's Styles

When Will Dudley's missus finally gave in to the new-style longer skirts, Will was mighty critical at first. Allowed as how women were a slave to fashion... ought to dress to please their husbands and not style designers.

Sue finally reminded Will of his habit of sitting by the radio Saturday afternoons in shirt sleeves and old slippers, listening to the sportcasts with a mellow glass of beer. Suggested that maybe Will was a slave to comfort.

And Will admitted she was right.

DISCUSSION OF "NAVARRO COUNTY IN RETROSPECT" IS GIVEN WEDNESDAY LUNCHEON

The Rev. Erwin F. Bohmfalk, County, from which Navarro and several other counties were organized in 1848 and spoke of the surveying party that set out in the Spring of 1833 to locate land for new counties, and of their difficulties with the Indians. He described a second surveying expedition that took place in the Fall of 1839, and ended disastrously for fifteen of the twenty-three Navarro County members of the party, who were later near Dawson by the Indians, a wild tribe of Indians.

A monument was later erected to the memory of the men who fell while trying to subdue the land that was then teeming with Buffalo and Indians, the speaker revealed. The monument was erected near Dawson by John P. Cox, who at that time, fifty years after the tragedy, was serving as County Clerk of Navarro County, and whose father was among the group killed.

Plagues of grasshoppers in 1853, 1857 and 1858, and prairie fires of the early 50's were listed among the difficulties experienced by early Navarro County settlers.

Corsicana was a city of churches from the very beginning, the speaker recalled, the original owner of the lots having set aside three one-half blocks for the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist churches. He mentioned the Cumberland Presbyterian as the first established church in Corsicana.

Named for Texas Patriot

Continuing his discussion, the Rev. Bohmfalk stated that the town was named in honor of Jose Antonio Navarro, a native of San Antonio, who played an important role in the struggle with Mexico.

The city of Corsicana derived its name from Corsica, the birthplace of the father of Navarro, the speaker stated.

The speaker mentioned early settlers of Corsicana among whom were the Rev. Hampton McKinney, who came to Texas from Illinois before Corsicana was in existence, living first at Dresden and Richland. He mentioned McKinney Tavern as one of the earliest buildings in Corsicana, and as having

The Blooming Grove Girls' 4-H club met February 19 in the school. The meeting opened with songs and the club pledge motto and prayer.

Roll was called and answered with the date of each member's birthday.

The meeting was turned over to the new 4-H agent, Mrs. Fern Bruce, who had an interesting subject about "Growing Gardens."

Bazette H-D Club.

The Bazette Home Demonstration Club met on Feb. 25 in the home of Mrs. George Mills with seven members present.

The club will meet with Mrs. Jack Marshall on March 10 with Miss Eva Sue Merritt, county home demonstration agent, present.

Richland 4-H Club.

The Richland 4-H Club met on Tuesday, March 2 and at Richland high school in a joint session.

Allie M. Wigley, president, called the meeting to order and the songleader, Cherry Moore, led a session of songs.

Two new members, Billie Ann Davis of Dawson, and Mary Emma Madewell, were accepted.

Sponsors for both the boys and girls clubs were present. Frank Gracey was in charge of the program, and discussed the care of cows. Mrs. Bruce, the girls sponsor, discussed the care of utensils.

Has that little dart-like thing under 15 if their doctors believe it should be done.

No Inconvenience.

It is the tubercle bacillus to the educated. To the layman, the hollou, the man on the street it is the tuberculosis germ.

It's a nice quiet guest. It moves in and the host doesn't even know it until it is getting close to too late.

Navarro county residents will have an opportunity March 16 to 20, including, to find out about their chests.

Under sponsorship of the Corsica-Navarro Health Unit, two portable X-ray machines will be brought to Corsicana by the Texas State Health Department to be used in taking free pictures of those wanting them.

Two Locations.

At present, according to Miss Lila Rutherford, senior public health nurse who is making plans for the five-day test period, there will be two locations to take care of the anticipated crowds. One will be in the health unit in the basement of the State National Bank building. The other will be at the Red Cross office.

Health authorities and leaders in the National Tuberculosis Assn. for years have hammered away at the unprotected chest, and the contention of more or less ignorant persons who hold that because they feel good they couldn't possibly have any symptoms of tuberculosis.

Free X-Ray Tests.

It is this group that the health authorities are attempting to reach through the medium of the free X-ray tests.

Each year, they point out, 50,000 persons die of tuberculosis.

A great many of them were "afraid" to get a chest X-ray.

The fear angle is a touch one for the health authorities to conquer.

"If the x-ray shows that you have tuberculosis in its early stages, it can be cured—with the least loss of time from your work," they point out.

George Immediate Care.

"On the other hand, if you should happen to have only TB now and not find it out, what will happen? You will go on living in a fool's paradise for a few months, maybe for a year or two. Then the disease may be so far advanced that it will take a long time to cure, and it may be that there can be no cure."

The local health unit is receiving the earnest backing of practically every organization in Corsicana to make the mass x-ray tests a success.

It is planned to x-ray every person past the age of 15, and those

Negro Arrest Here Reported to Break Up Criminal Ring

Arrest by night patrolmen of the Corsicana police department of a negro逃犯 had led Wednesday to the breaking up of a money order mailing gang operating in the vicinity of Dallas.

Chief of Police Bruce Nutt announced that Jimmie Darnell, Athens negro on probation from a California penitentiary and wanted on a felony warrant out of the U. S. commissioners' office at Dallas, was apprehended here Monday night.

Chief Nutt notified Dallas authorities and Tuesday J. L. Pearce and B. E. Deam, U. S. postal inspectors, arrived to question Darnell.

Fled in Dallas.

The 25-year-old negro, who fled into the night's darkness in his socks and underwear last week when federal men made a raid on a Dallas residence, made a statement to the inspectors Tuesday.

Pearce said Darnell, another negro man and two juvenile negro girls composed the gang. Their racket was to purchase $1 money orders, raise them to $4 and cash them in Dallas liquor stores. Money orders had been purchased at Ennis, Ferris and Hutchins and other towns near Dallas, but none had been bought here.

First arrest came last week when one of the girls was picked up. The other girl and the man were nabbed in the raid and the fourth

Pearce said that so far about $700 had been netted by the quartet, as 18 bogus money orders had been reported.

Charges of conspiracy to violate the U. S. postal laws were filed against Darnell and the others before U. S. Commissioner Madden P. Hill, according to Pearce.

The federal agents had been looking for Darnell, who also has a Dallas police record. He has a wife living here.

The negro was arrested for questioning by the police department, and his presence reported to Dallas authorities to see if a pickup order was on record.

R. O. Renfro and family have returned to San Antonio after a visit in the home of Mrs. Gola Renfro.

Hen Produces S Marked Eggs

A year-old Rhode Island Red hen is different from the other biddies in the yard of W. A. Herod, Oak Valley road, Route 3, Corsicana. She lays eggs marked with a well-known letter S.

The owner said the hen came from a group of chicks purchased at the nursery last spring, and all eggs laid by her have been marked with the S. The hen stole her nest away from the hen-house and when discovered, there were a half dozen of the unusual eggs found.

Herod exhibited the eggs here Monday afternoon.

POLITICS

In that connection, a campaign committee was organized in New York yesterday "to become MacArthur to the end that the people demand he be nominated for president."

Warren Wright of Chicago, acting leader of the group, said no pledged delegates will be sought. Instead, he added, the committee will rely on a nation-wide poll three weeks before the GOP convention to convince party leaders that MacArthur is the people's choice.

"Anti-Truman" Bill Falls.

In Virginia, Gov. William M. Tuck approved a complete substitute for his "anti-Truman" election law bill.

The revised measure would permit the president's name to appear on the state's ballot, but would require presidential electors to vote at the Virginia party convention.

That would be for some other than Mr. Truman, if he is his party's nominee and if Southern Democratic leaders remain up in arms over his civil rights program.

Another spark was added to the revolt by Florida Democrats. They postponed their Jefferson-Jackson Day dinners until after the party's convention in July.

No Funds Planned.

"No appeal for funds for the national Democratic party will be made at this time," they announced.

The Ku Klux Klan, in another phase of the Dixie rebellion, carried its burning torch to Wrightsville, Ga., where only one negro approached the polls in a county other than his own.

Grand Dragon Dr. Samuel Green told the hooded gathering that if the civil rights program is enacted federal bavocants will be used against to enforce equality. If that happens, he said, "blood will flow."

Congressional action on the controversial program was momentarily halted.

Calendar Crowded.

The senate calendar is crowded with other matters. And Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) told a reporter he does not see how the house other can get around to acting on a pending anti-lynching bill for another month.

But another GOP leader, who asked that his name not be used, said, "we will pass it eventually.

It's a matter of timing."

FIRE, WEATHER SEND JOBS DOWN DURING MONTH IN COUNTY

EMPLOYMENT REPORT UNFAVORABLE DUE TO TWO MAJOR FACTORS

Employment took a severe beating during February in Navarro County and Corsicana.

W. B. Reedy, manager of the Texas Employment Commission's Corsicana office, blamed two things for the collapse of the "above normal" rating of the past several months—fire and the weather.

The wrong side of the labor ledger received one jolting entry when fire swept the Tex-Sun Glove Mfg. Co. plant on Feb. 11, adding approximately 100 workers to the unemployment list. Workers who won't be able to return to their jobs for several weeks.

Weather Stops Work

Weather got in the body blows. The kind of weather which brings a halt to outside buildings and construction jobs prevailed, and the momentum of layoffs started in January were continued on into mid-February with increasing speed.

One particular trend impressed the employment office staff. It was noted that some business firms reduced their sales staffs for the first time in many months because of a cutback in sales brought about by the shortage of spending dollars usually carried to market by the man who earns his living with his brush.

On the basis of cold figures, the picture wasn't vibrant. In January, the office took 103 applications for work. In December, the figure was 113. In February it climbed to 251.

Unemployment Benefits

Initial claims for unemployed benefits also took the sharpest jump in many months with a total of 286 individuals filing claims for benefits. Eighty of these were World War II veterans who asked for readjustments in allowances.

"Despite these drawbacks, several manufacturing plants and processing plants have increased their employment during the past 60 days," Reedy reported. "Many more workers will be added during the next few weeks to meet the spring and summer production demands."

Fair Weather Needed

"Agriculture also will provide much employment in the rural areas immediately if the weather should change the menu he has dished out for the past two months, and with fair weather

Babies born last Sunday, Feb. 29, will have to wait until next year for their first birthdays. Nobody cheated them. It just so happens that there isn't another February 29 for four years, or until next Leap Year.

Two of them were twins, a boy and a girl. They were born to Mrs. Ernest Jock, of Route 1, Trinidad.

Mrs. Chester Mann, Route 1, Powell, gave birth to a daughter.

Floodwaters In Navarro County Do Little Damage

No serious damage is anticipated from floodwaters in the major streams in Navarro county unless additional precipitation is received during the next 48 hours.

The crest of Trinity river, fed by the rains last week in the Dallas and Fort Worth and up-stream areas, is expected to reach Trinity sometime next week.

Local motorists returning home Monday night from Dallas reported it was necessary to detour from Highway 75 south of Dallas because of high waters.

Richland creek west of Highway 31 near Dawson was out of its banks Monday afternoon but was back in the channel Tuesday morning. Chambers creek was reported out of banks on Highway 31 and rising Tuesday morning.

Smaller creeks that are tributaries of Richland and Chambers creeks had returned to their channels.

Corn planting and other farming operations have been delayed again. The hard rains, however, packed the dirt roads and may have been beneficial.

Road Machinery To Be Purchased By Commissioners

The County Commissioners' Court Monday afternoon approved salary claims, voted to purchase "one or more, used or new road maintainers," approved County Auditor E. Y. Cunningham's annual report and adjourned to visit the county hospital with Paul Moore, board secretary.

Tuesday afternoon session followed a lengthy discussion in the morning of the road conditions as a result of deluging rains in the hours of getting repairs. Aid was assured when the weather would permit machinery to get onto the muddy roads.

The new or used equipment will be purchased after receiving bids at the courthouse the morning of March 15, Judge L. L. Powell announced.

When Men Cook —Women Burn

By IRENE SIMON
AP Newsfeature

BERLIN—Two bright young men on the American-controlled German-language Berlin radio station have learned from hard experience that when brash men take to cooking, come take to criticism. Since the inception of their 15-minute cookery program, "Wenn Männer Kochen" ("When Men Cook"), Producer Hans Korniglebel and Announcer Rudolf Wagner have been swamped by a barrage of mail from women listeners who've taken issue with their cooking instructions.

This does not bother the male cooks, though. Their program is beamed at bachelors and men whose wives have left them minding the baby and tending the kitchen.

On the program "Rudi," a father of four children, acts the part of a bachelor who has no idea of cooking. "Hans" is the experienced cook who teaches Rudi culinary tricks.

Their "studio kitchen" is unlike the usual feminine-ruled "küche." Both men go at cooking as if it were one huge joke. Rudi whismythical character from the Society of the Friends of Mankind who protests that their recipes are ruining humanity.

As the poor bachelor Rudi has evoked so much sympathy, fans send him packages of salt, baking powder, soda powder, lemon powder and headache powder. The latter is sent by a kind listener who suggests that he use it as an antidote for Hans' description of "Substitute-Coffee Grounds Cake."

An inspiration of improvisation, "Substitute-Coffee Grounds Cake" is made by mixing a half pound of maize flour with one tablet of saccharine, a cup of water, and a tablespoon of baking powder. After scrambling this mess together, one places it in a cake mold, sprinkles over it a topping of substitute-coffee grounds flavored with "sucrostoff" and baked for twenty minutes.

"Our recipes probably sound screwy to the rest of the world, but they are well suited to the times," says Rudi. "We try to feature such ersatz ingredients as 'molke' (watery part of milk); 'quark' (sour watery milk); 'sucrostoff' (substitute for sugar); and 'gruetze' (farina substitute.)

The following recipe for "Berlin Pancake" demonstrates what a man can do with little "molke" and "quark":

"100 grams flour, 75 grams roasted oatmeal, 100 grams cooled gruetze, 200 grams 'quark,' 100 grams sugar, 100 grams little water, 100 grams 'molke,' 100 grams baking powder, if available."

"People who've eaten this claim it tastes swell," says Rudi. "We never eat our own stuff. Our wives won't let us near the kitchen at home."

Hans, the "experienced cook," gets most of the program's critical fan mail.

"Here's something you probably never thought about," wrote an angry "hausfrau" in a note enclosed with a small bit of pepper. "Next time you tell us how to make goulash do not forget the pepper."

To placate this listener Hans read over the air her recipe for "Fried Potato Peel Pudding": "Put one pound of potato peels (well washed) through a grinder, a dash of salt, one tablespoon maize flour. Mix, fry without oil for several minutes. The next day following this Hans received a batch of angry letters from listeners suffering from stomach cramps.

If anyone is interested in this delicacy, says Hans, he should cut 100 slices and grate two handfuls, mix with half a pound of bread crumbs, and two cups of water, and two teaspoons maize flour, two of baking powder, one grated onion, and bake in the oven for 15 minutes.

That "Herring Pudding" has become a postwar Berlin success is no surprise to Hans. He says it embodies that element which is lacking in women cooks—imagination.

"Imagination," explains Hans, "is the answer I gave to Rudi when he asked me what to do when a cake begins to rise: Just deal with it as you would a girl friend who wants to leave you—let her and the dough go as it will. They'll both come back to the desired level sooner or later."

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

NEW YORK, March 4—(P)—

Dance bands are big business.

Guy Lombardo in 20 years has waved in with his baton between fifteen and twenty million dollars' for himself and his Royal Canadians.

He's done it by sticking to a very simple formula:

"I play music people in love like to hear, while they're dancing."

Lombardo is refer to his band's output as "the sweetest music this side of heaven." Rival musicians often call him "The King of Corn."

But each year his band pulls in from $750,000 to $1,000,000, and Variety Magazine estimated it topped all other orchestras in recording sales for 1947.

Lombardo Business Man

Lombardo, son of an Italian immigrant, is a shrewd business man. He is a major shareholder in the Long Island Airlines, which ferries commuters to Manhattan, and in two music publishing firms. He believes he has retained popular favor chiefly by sticking to his pattern and by avoiding one error that had killed off many jazz bands.

"Many orchestra leaders have gone out of business merely because they became financially interested in too many songs," he said. "That ruins them."

Music publishers often offer a prominent band leader a third interest in a new song if he'll plug it. If he takes these offers and begins plugging too many flops—he disappears.

"This whole business simmers down to your materials," Lombardo said. "You can't force bad songs on people. It isn't that they resent them. They just don't hear them or remember them and if the band doesn't play tunes they remember and like—well, they just don't remember the band."

Tune 60 For Cent

"The tune itself is about 60 percent of the whole effect—the band's interpretation only 40 percent."

"I haven't seen one iota of change in public taste since I first played the violin. The popularity of revivals proves that. Many band leaders play material of interest only to other musicians. We don't feel that most American listeners are musicians enough to care for intricate orchestrations."

Lombardo has introduced some 275 popular tunes in his career. Each year he introduces 20 to 30 more of the 1,000 offered him by professional songpluggers.

"I also get about 10,000 each year from amateurs," he said. "Most of them make the mistake of trying to put their own disappointed love life into their lyrics."

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 4.—(P)—The stock market suffered its first average retreat in a week. A comforting factor, however, was that scattered a special issues market, for a number of programs and pressures was negligible. Turnover for the full proceedings of around 600,000 shares was among the smallest 5-hour totals for the past six months.

A few oils, dropped by earnings and fall of, a boost in crude prices, old rather well in the forenoon. Some failed to follow through. Quotations hardened here and there at the last. While advances of fractions to a point or so persisted, closing losses of as much for pivots predominated.

Better performers included United Corp., St. Louis, Southern Pacific and preferred, Texaco Coal and Oil, Lion Oil (at a year's high), and Allied Chemical. Commonwealth and Southern started on a 1,000-share basis unchanged at 21-2. Bakelite, most of the day was San Joaquin Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Union Carbide, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum (despite a lifted dividend) and American Woolen.

Brokerage customs did nothing or trimmed accounts because of persistent doubts regarding business, taxes, wages and confusing international situations. The principal bidding still came from professionals who felt that the list had a good chance of extending its technical correction of the lengthy February declines.

Bonds were spotty.

Muddy Grounds Fail To Deter Opening Drills

Muddy ground and a biting north wind failed to stop 59 prospects from showing up for the first baseball and track workouts for the Corsicana High school teams Tuesday at the high school campus.

There were 34 prospects out to make the baseball team. Coach Garland Mathewson and Ollie Pederson reported 25 thin-olins out for the track team. Some of the players will try out for both baseball and track the coaches reported.

Payne limited the baseball workouts to fundamentals and lecture sessions Tuesday, but indicated that the tempo of work would pick up soon as the Tigers got down to business in an effort to round into shape for some non-conference games before April 6, the conference starting date.

Although Payne did not so indicate, the nucleus of the Tiger nine will probably consist of several of the players who took part in the American Legion program here last year.

Matthews and Pederson had 23 prospects out for the track team, including a number of men who served the Tigers in track and field events last year. As far as is known, the first scheduled track meet the Tigers will participate in will be the Dogwood relays in Palestine on April 2 and 3.

Shows Get $210 For Battleship

Corsicana theatre-goers contributed $10 to a fund for returning the Battleship Texas to the state for permanent berthing. Paul Hugine, manager of Interstate Theatres here, said Thursday.

Collections were made at the circuit's three local theatres Sunday and Monday, in cooperation with state-wide campaign under Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsorship, he said.

Morrison, of the publicity department of the Texas Power and Light Co., speaking on "Our American Way of Life" traced the movement back across the years to two main sources—the stream of thought originating with Socrates and Aristotle, and that experienced by Moses.

"It is a noble opinion," Morrison said, "the pre-eminent position which the United States occupies today is in a large degree due to the fact that this nation has operated under his system of free enterprise."

"What is it? I think it can be summed up briefly as an economic system which gives to those citizens living under it freedom to work, to keep part of what they produce, to save and to risk those savings on profits."

He declared that he would not hold the system is a perfect one.

"On the contrary, it has many flaws," he said. "It has not and does not always operate on 'all six.' There have been great inquiries developed under it—it has bogged down badly at times."

"At the same time, I submit that over this years, we have been greatly improving and refining our enterprise system. As its flaws become glaringly apparent, steps have been taken to correct them. Still far from perfection, nevertheless with each passing decade the free enterprise system has made for a more equitable distribution of its products among all classes of the American people. Despite its imperfections, it is still the best in all the history of the world."

Morrison, in discussing the trend of a world, told the Rotarians that "we don't fool around too long and miss the boat we can still continue to have the things we have always known."

Particularly did he stress the duty of the citizens to vote, and take his government seriously.

"I do not personally believe any congressman wants to pass a bad law," he said. "You should keep him advised."

Morrison was introduced by W.

Guests included Fred H. Harvey, Jr., district manager, and B. J. Stork, chief clerk, of the Texas Power and Light Co.; A. F. Mitchell, Martin Weir of Puerto Rico; Carroll Wood of Mexia, visiting Rotarian, and Charles Curtis and Norman Goldberg, junior Rotarians.

School Reorganization In Hands Of People, Mrs. Ray Files Still Says

By CLYDE E. JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff

Whether the Texas educational system will be revamped remains to be seen but the proposal for a reorganization has been turned over to the people, whose suggestions and ideas are awaited, Mrs. Ray Files Still, Waxahachie school teacher and state legislator told several teachers here Tuesday night.

Mrs. Still spoke at a joint meeting of the Corsicana Teachers Association and the County unit of the State Teachers Association. It was held in the Junior High School auditorium.

Public Suggestions

Discussing the Gilmer-Alken committee, of which she is a member, Mrs. Still declared:

"The suggestions are to come from you. It's an opportunity—if we use it we can better the educational system of Texas. Whether it is doing reorganization to be seen."

The Gilmer-Alken committee is composed of eight members and is headed by State Senator Jim Taylor, also public relations director of the Texas Manufacturers Association. It was set up to study the state's school system and determine, if possible, more efficient way to operate it.

Revised Finances Issue

A revised method of financing the school system is the main problem to be tackled, Mrs. Still said. She pointed to the need of a better stabilization program and less legislative control.

Elaborating on this, the speaker said some schools are too small to receive the $500 per capita aid, and at the same time too large to benefit from the stabilization fund.

Mrs. Still indicated that Texas might follow a program adopted in Florida. It was explained to the Gilmer-Alken panel by a Florida official who co-ordinated the idea, she said.

A formula was set up in that state to determine the amount of funds a local unit could afford—a difficult task facing Texas, said Mrs. Still. At that time, the state would provide the rest, guaranteeing a minimum program.

Six Items Considered

The formula was based on a classroom-teacher basis and the following six things were considered:

1. The amount of gasoline tax paid by the county.

2. The amount of automobile taxes paid.

3. Gross retail sales.

4. Value of farm products.

5. Assessed valuations.

6. State tax valuations.

Teachers' Inexperienced

Under the Texas system, Mrs. Still explained, many schools employ inexperienced teachers as an economic move, but under the Florida plan the state provides more funds on a teacher-efficiency basis. Also cited was a program of giving scholarships to would-be teachers, the legislator said.

"All this interested us," she said, "but we immediately asked the question 'how did they (Florida) get it through the legislature?'

The answer, she declared, was through organized local committees of publicists and the fact that the legislature, when it convened, "knew the people were solidly behind it."

Co-ordinator Needed

Shortly after the Gilmer-Alken committee was formed, the need of co-ordination was seen, the speaker said. Then it was decided that more widespread help was necessary and a statewide advisory committee was set up. Following this a third step was taken—plan to organize county committees vitally.

"We want suggestions to come from the people," she emphasized.

While stressing the fact that the proposal was now in the people's hands, Mrs. Still declared that "It is no longer the governor's committee—it is no longer the Gilmer-Alken's committee." And upon mentioning the governor, Beauford H. Jester, a native of Corsicana, the legislator abruptly took a crack at him by saying:

"Not My Governor!" She intimated that the governor had little interest in the welfare of teachers and said her views and his differed.

Mrs. Still explained to the teachers, however, that she was not speaking for the Gilmer-Alken committee.

"I am prohibited from speaking for the committee," she declared, saying that her statements were personal views.

The speaker then hurled this criticism:

"You have a Board of Education and a superintendent of public instruction that don't get along. It's not a good thing for the Texas
